

Graphic Design Technician

London EC1M

Alan Baxter's work covers a broad range of projects encompassing civil and structural engineering, urban design, masterplanning and conservation. The practice thrives on a highly interactive culture with varied and high-profile projects.

Our graphics team works on a wide range of challenging and exciting projects. They assist our engineers, conservation experts and urban designers with visually communicating plans and drawings to our clients. Following our in-house style, they lay out and edit our reports and marketing materials.

We are looking for a talented and dedicated person with an interest in the built environment. You will be familiar with the Adobe suite of graphic software including InDesign, Illustrator & Photoshop and have good hand-drawing skills. In addition to technical expertise, you will need to have a strong attention to detail, to be efficient, and able to work under pressure.
